many of us long to experience the fullness of god and his purpose for our lives not a whole lot of us ever do the reason is that we have departed in some significant ways from the biblical view of christian life and growth the new testament highlights the communal missional and eschatological aspects of our walk with god we grow in our faith as individual christians to the degree that we are a deeply rooted relationally in a local church community that is b passionately playing its part in god's grand story of creation, fall, redemption and restoration and contently anticipating the summing of all things in christ when jesus returns. In recent decades, american evangelicals have traded away community outreach and the bible's teaching about eternity future for the pursuit of individual religious experience in the here and now. Why we need the church to become more like jesus traces this departure from biblical christianity through recent decades of popular evangelical trends and reminds us that faith centered on community mission and the story line of scripture remains the key to the spiritual formation of the individual christian.

Lyle Smith is a 93 year old lawyer who has read and seen much history and he notes a growing displeasure with capitalism in the past when one civilization gave way to a new one it was usually followed by a new religion. We need a common goal for our life on earth and we have not outgrown the need for religion but our concept of god needs to be more closely associated with what we learn from science and less tied to ancient stories. Smith is not suggesting a new religion. We have active religions now and he hopes they will learn to cooperate in offering guidance on how to live on earth while continuing differing faith practices and hope after death. He also thinks jesus' message and example of how to love our neighbors and ourselves can enrich all religions.

In the five years since Money for Everyone was published, the idea of a citizen's basic income has rocketed in interest to an idea whose time has come. In moving the debate on from the desirability of a basic income, this fully updated and revised edition now includes comprehensive discussions on feasibility and implementation using the consultation undertaken by the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales as a basis. Torry examines a number of implementation methods for citizen's basic income and considers the cost implications including real life examples from the UK and data from case studies and pilots in Alaska, Namibia, India, Iran and elsewhere. This is the essential research based introduction to the citizen's basic income.

Our search for security, peace and justice continues to be an individual and a collective challenge. The old testament experiences of the patriarch Job and the new testament experiences of the apostle Paul provide a framework for understanding the hope that enriches our lives under God's care. The plan we need recognizes that we have choices to make, we have decisions that influence the direction of our lives. To find security, peace and justice, we need a plan to form and keep a right relationship with God. When we lose control over the decisions that set security, peace and justice in our lives, we can feel like a pile of broken pieces. To have security, peace and justice, we need to live in fellowship with God. When our purpose and direction in life meet God's requirements, we please God with Jesus Christ as our savior and the Holy Spirit as our helper. God provides the support we need to find rest and renewal, the foundation of our happiness now and our hope for the future is our salvation and the joy of sharing our beliefs with others. When our thoughts and actions are in keeping with God's will for us, we can access the possibilities and power that God makes available to us as mature members in God's family. This book is for anyone who feels disconnected from God, for people dealing with loneliness, fear, despair and anger. The plan we need for security, peace and justice describes a systematic way to become a functioning part of the body of Christ and to complete the connection with God.
