Shopping is one of the most challenging and rewarding human activities. Pooler offers a captivating exploration of the emotional and psychological dimensions of shopping. What drives shoppers in various situations? Why do we shop the way we do? Why do people go to malls, boutiques and sites with their credit cards in hand despite not knowing what it is they're looking for? This book answers such questions taking an incisive look at how shopping and shoppers have changed in recent years. For those in retailing and marketing, this guide to the fickle consumer's mindset offers concrete and practical advice on modern shopping behavior along with important insights into the shopping psyche. Comprehending why people shop as they do is a daunting challenge for today's retailer. For example, why do people shop for bargain groceries yet purchase the latest luxury model SUV? Why do people feel justified in splurging for Christmas, birthdays or anniversaries but suffer guilt from over-spending at other times of the year? Is clothes shopping all about price and practicality or is it more about emotional reward and psychological needs? Is the excitement in the quest or the acquisition? Why is there such a thing as a morning after urge to return among certain shoppers while others refuse to return an item even if it's flawed or doesn't fit? Pooler probes to the heart of today's complex shopper providing valuable insights for retailers.
