morocco is notable for its stable and durable monarchy its close ties with the west its vibrant cultural life and its centrality to regional politics this book by distinguished historian susan gilson miller offers a richly documented survey of modern moroccan history arguing that pragmatism rather than ideology has shaped the monarchy's response to crisis the book begins with the french invasion of algeria in 1830 and morocco's abortive efforts at reform the duel with colonial powers and the loss of independence in 1912 the burdens and benefits of france's forty four year dominion and the stunning success of the nationalist movement leading to independence in 1956 in the post independence era the book traces the monarchy's gradual monopolization of power and the resulting political paralysis with a postscript bringing events up to 2012 this concise readable book will inform and enthrall students and all those searching for the background to present day events in the region durable authoritarian rule often rests on the co-optation of challengers the conventional story is straightforward rulers entice opposition groups to sell out offering them benefits if they set aside their antiauthoritarian aspirations and become part of the system however co-optation does not always neutralize former adversaries and even seemingly domesticated opponents can turn on their rulers co optation does weaken opposition but it is not as simple reliable or transactional as existing theories claim shouting in a cage offers new ways to understand co optation s power and its limits by examining two co opted parties the wafd party in egypt and the istiqlal party in morocco sofia fenner argues that co optation is less a corrupt bargain than a discursive contest a clash of competing interpretations co opted parties conjure up imagined futures in which their short term choices will lead to the realization of their long term democratic goals meanwhile other actors point to the disconnect between these parties antiauthoritarian aspirations and their participation in authoritarian systems fenner demonstrates that co opted parties come to look hypocritical precisely because they refuse to give up their oppositional commitments their credibility sapped they become unappealing allies and eventually political afterthoughts however such parties retain a surprising capacity for opposition rooted in the literal and metaphorical idea of party as family based on extensive archival research and ethnographic fieldwork in north africa shouting in a cage broadens our understanding of political behavior under authoritarianism axel honneth s theory of recognition comes from a theoretical paradigm attached to western deliberative democracy honneth does not interpret recognition from the perspective of gender equality and how a woman may be recognized in non democratic and non western societies if one interprets the theory of recognition with a focus on the situation of women it is possible to identify that legal recognition plays a fundamental role it is relevant then to propose forms of struggling for the recognition of these women it is adopted the methodology of critical theory and recognition is illustrated from the perspectives of case studies for instance regarding women in china and morocco in these countries there are different forms of disrespect nevertheless despite restrictions imposed by government and culture both countries still have forms of struggling for recognition that should be perceived several forms of struggling for recognition to turn recognition into a universal institute which can be applied in different contexts there are always forms of struggling for better conditions of women s recognition in every community through the support of law
