this work focuses upon the military problems of the ottoman empire in the era 1839 to 1878 the author examines the crimean war 1853 to 1856 from the perspective of the ottoman army using british and french sources as well as the few available ottoman materials scholarship on the war has ignored this aspect but the high quality of work about the british french and russian involvement in the war has enabled the present study to advance its own work the inability of the ottoman high command to learn the lessons of the crimean war led to serious defeats in the russo turkish war of 1877 1878 revolts occurring in this period also receive attention while the book analyzes the nature of war in the balkans and anatolia its primary objective is the study of the war s social and psychological influences this perspective runs as a theme throughout the book but the author focuses on the psychological aspects in the final chapter using comparative perspectives
