Disruptive and creative research methodologies proposed in this book are designed to dismantle neoliberal narratives deployed in tourism studies and wider social sciences. Progressing criticality in tourism studies, this volume showcases cutting-edge contributions ranging from reflexivity, subjectivities, and dreams to messy emotions in auto-ethnographic accounts of fieldwork, motherhood, capital, accessing Inuit communities, collective memory, work, ethnodrama, and creative non-fiction. Amongst others, disruption and creativity are the two ideas around which tourism geographers challenge and begin dismantling hegemonic ideologies in tourism studies. The chapters in this book provide a vantage point from where to disrupt first before tourism geographers can engender progress and transformation within and outside of the field. In tourism studies in general and tourism geography in particular, the years of the 2000s have witnessed an emphasis on qualitative methodological research both in terms of the topics addressed and the types of methodological tools. In many ways, this legitimisation of qualitative work mirrors developments in other areas such as human geography, sociology, and anthropology, in which this book is anchored. The authors debate in more depth how tourism studies offer multidimensional, multilogical, and multi-emotional approaches to research design. The chapters were originally published as a special issue of the journal Tourism Geographies.

In Stoned, Shamed, Depressed: Journalist Jyotsna Mohan Bhargava investigates the secret lives of India's urban teens and comes up with an eye-opening account of struggles with addiction to substances, social media, and gaming, dealing with intense peer pressure, bullying, and body shaming, and the resultant physical and mental health issues. This book chronicles the confused journey of Indian teens to adulthood along a road that is full of temptation where boundaries are easily blurred and where the lure of easy adventure often in the virtual world can unleash events that have repercussions for years to come. The narrative interweaves accounts of teens, parents, teachers, and child psychologists to reveal a deeply disturbing picture of modern-day school life in urban India.

A San Francisco Chronicle Best Book of the Year, a New York Times Book Review Editors' Choice, a New York Post Best Book of the Week, recommended by Vogue, The San Francisco Chronicle, The Skimm, The BBC, Southern Living, PureWow, Hey Alma, Esquire, EW, Refinery29, Bust, and Read It or Weep, Mind-Blowingly Brilliant is provocative, profound, and yes, a little unsettling. Come With Me is about how technology breaks apart and then reconfigures a family, and though it has hints of sci-fi, it's so beautifully grounded in reality that it seems to breathe, although it takes place over just three days. What's so fascinating is that so many lives and many possibilities are lived through it. Truly, it's a novel like its own multiverse. San Francisco Chronicle from Helen Schulman, the acclaimed author of the New York Times bestseller This Beautiful Life. Come With Me is another gripping, potent, and blisteringly well-written story of family dilemma and consequence. Elizabeth Gilbert, a mind-bending
