this major textbook provides comprehensive coverage of the analytical tools required to determine the dynamic response of structures the topics covered include formulation of the equations of motion for single as well as multi degree of freedom discrete systems using the principles of both vector mechanics and analytical mechanics free vibration response determination of frequencies and mode shapes forced vibration response to harmonic and general forcing functions dynamic analysis of continuous systems and wave propagation analysis the key assets of the book include comprehensive coverage of both the traditional and state of the art numerical techniques of response analysis such as the analysis by numerical integration of the equations of motion and analysis through frequency domain the large number of illustrative examples and exercise problems are of great assistance in improving clarity and enhancing reader comprehension the text aims to benefit students and engineers in the civil mechanical and aerospace sectors special topic volume with invited peer reviewed papers only the objective of this investigation is to improve the fundamental understanding of how and why nonlinear fluid viscous dampers fvds and nonlinear viscoelastic ve dampers are effective in reducing structural response and to develop simplified analysis and design procedures for practical applications of these dampers an innovative technique is developed for single degree of freedom sdof systems which is then extended to asymmetric one story 2 degree of freedom systems directly from the earthquake design spectrum for an asymmetric one story system with nonlinear ve dampers
