- 1 Costing Absorption Costing vs Marginal Costing This is a fundamental difference Absorption costing includes fixed overhead in the product cost while marginal costing only includes variable costs Lets illustrate Example A company produces 1000 units Variable cost per unit is 10 and fixed overhead is 5000
- 2 Absorption Costing  $10 + \frac{5000}{1000} = 15$  per unit Marginal Costing 10 per unit Understanding the implications of each method on profit calculation is crucial compared to traditional methods Example A company produces two products A and B ABC considers the number of machine hours and the number of setups for each product when allocating overhead Product A might require more machine hours while B requires more setups ABC will accurately reflect this difference in overhead allocation Howto Practice numerous cost calculations using different scenarios Understand the situations where each costing method is most appropriate

ActivityBased Costing ABC ABC assigns overhead costs based on activities providing a more accurate cost per product

2 Budgeting and Forecasting Master Budget This is the comprehensive budget encompassing all aspects of the business sales production materials etc Flexible Budgeting This adjusts the budget based on changes in activity levels It provides a more accurate comparison of actual results against planned results Visual Imagine a graph showcasing different budget lines for varying sales volumes This visually demonstrates the flexibility of a flexible budget Howto Practice creating budgets using different scenarios and activity levels Focus on understanding the interrelationships between different budget sections

3 Performance Evaluation Key Performance Indicators KPIs Understanding and applying relevant KPIs like Return on Investment ROI Residual Income and various efficiency ratios is vital Variance Analysis Analyzing differences between budgeted and actual results to identify areas for improvement Example If actual sales are lower than budgeted sales investigate the reasons pricing strategy marketing effectiveness or external factors Howto Practice variance analysis questions focusing on identifying favorable and adverse variances and their potential causes

4 DecisionMaking 3 MakeorBuy Decisions Analyzing whether to produce a component internally or outsource it Pricing Decisions Understanding different pricing strategies and their impact on profitability Howto Focus on applying relevant cost information to decisionmaking scenarios Practice identifying relevant costs and ignoring sunk costs Visualizing Your Learning with Mind Maps Consider using mind maps to organize and visualize the interconnectedness of different topics within F2 A central topic like Costing can branch out into Absorption Costing Marginal Costing ABC and so on This visual representation aids understanding and retention

Conquering the CEGEWE Mock Exam A StepbyStep Approach 1 Thorough Revision Review all study materials focusing on your weaker areas identified through practice questions 2 Practice Questions Solve as many practice questions as possible focusing on time management Use past papers and the CEGEWE mock exam to get a feel for the exam
