this undergraduate textbook provides a broad overview of the ways in which adventurous practices influence and are influenced by the world around them the concept of adventure is one that is too often tackled within subject silos of philosophy education tourism or leisure while much of the analysis is strong there is little cross pollination between disciplines adventure society pulls together the threads of these discourses into one coherent treatment of the term adventure and the role that it plays in human social life of the 21st century it explores how these practices can be considered more deeply through theoretical discourses of capitalism identity construction technology and social media risk taking personal development equalities and sustainability as such the book speaks to a broad audience of undergraduate and postgraduate students across diverse subject areas and aims to be an accessible starting point for deeper inquiry leadership is so much a part of the conduct of training that at times it is difficult to tell where one stops and the other starts the best book on military training from platoon to division level that has been published in any army magazine his message is that whatever works and gets results by the most direct and efficient means is good all else should be eliminated air university review a utilitarian book that talks intelligently of leadership management and common sense armor magazine a hardhitting and unvarnished authoritative work that should be read and reread by everyone who aspires to be a truly professional soldier general bruce palmer u s army ret a gem with few peers invaluable arthur collins advice is always performance oriented don't talk so much about it he says don't make so many fancy charts about training instead do it teach it perform it parameters provides a detailed look at the organisational instructional skills an outdoor adventure leader should develop this book is for those in search of fun cowboy up at an authentic dude ranch horse pack with your spouse in montana's rugged bitterroot wilderness bicycle through the beautiful vineyards of napa valley italy or france drive a covered wagon pulled by a team of horses through the teton wilderness of wyoming plunge down the majestic grand canyon's lava falls the world's biggest whitewater feel the exhilaration kayaking among orcas on alaska's inside passage or paddling the myriad of islands in the crystal clear waters of the belize features 700 recreation providers the multiplicity of tourism encounters provide some of the best available occasions to observe the social world and its making s focusing on ontological politics of tourism development this book examines how different versions of tourism are enacted how encounters between different versions of tourism orderings may result in controversies but also on how these enactments and encounters are entangled in multiple ways to broader areas of development conservation policy and destination management throughout the book encounters and controversies are investigated from a poststructuralist and relational approach as complex and emerging seeing the roles and characteristics of related actors as co constituted inspired by post actor network theory and related research the studies include the social as well as the material but also multiplicity and ontological politics when examining controversial matters or events in this title experienced practitioners offer sound practical advice about ways of improving playwork practice the in depth exploration of a range of theoretical perspectives should appeal to both playwork students and practising playworkers
