10000 with a 1000 salvage value and a 5 year useful life would have annual depreciation of 10000 / 1000 = 1000 / 5 = 200. What is the difference between a debit and a credit? Debits increase the balance of asset, expense and dividend accounts while credits increase the balance of liability, equity and revenue accounts. The opposite is true for decreasing balances. 4. How do I prepare a trial balance? A trial balance is a summary of all general ledger accounts and their balances. It lists all debit balances in one column and all credit balances in another. The total debits should equal the total credits. A trial balance helps identify potential errors in the general ledger. 5. Where can I find additional resources for financial accounting? Besides the textbook, explore online resources like accounting websites, YouTube tutorials and online courses. 4. Offered by platforms such as Coursera or edX. Your college or university library likely also offers relevant textbooks and resources.
