the nineteenth century in france is a nightmare for literary historians their thirst for categorization is more easily quenched by prior centuries to which because they seem unified by cohesive preoccupations and common goals such appellations as the renaissance the classical age or le grand siècle and the enlightenment or age of ideas are appropriately applied for the protean nineteenth century for which no such handy tag

has been or can be devised is beyond all else distinguished by extreme heterogeneity and eclecticism a period of chaotic social and political instability of scientific and industrial revolution it is in literature a time not of solidarity but of unprecedented individualism collective social consciousness yields to isolated probings into the uncharted recesses of the human mind and soul and revolt against standardized even valorized literary practice is seen in such developments as the slow undermining of the accepted literary lexicon and of the qualities of unity clarity and reason and in a radical overhauling of the system of prosody if such diversity precludes coherence in nineteenth century french literature it can itself be recognized as the 2organizing3 element of this literary epoch and it is precisely this paradox that the essays in this volume intend to reflect they are not unified as orthodoxy might dictate by a common approach or theme or author rather they are marked as was the century that is their context by divergence and variety not harmony and consistency multiformity in theme is reflected in discussions of such varied topics as pygmalionism allegory mirage self consciousness plagiarism madness feminism the grotesque dance and alchemy which are addressed in turn from a variety of critical approaches thematic intertextual historical stylistic psychocritical sociological and semiotic eclecticism indeed has shaped the basic conception of the collection part 1 examines themes presented as pretext that inform either authorial motivation or the orientation of a text prior to its actual inscription part 2 approaches the process of writing from the perspective of the text itself and part 3 is concerned with those spatial temporal and linguistic elements context that surround the literary text
