there is a compelling story behind taiwan s recent emergence as a food destination of international significance a culinary history of taipei is the first comprehensive english language examination of what taiwan s people eat and why they eat those foods as well as the role and perception of particular foods distinctive culinary traditions have not merely survived the travails of recent centuries but grown more complex and enticing taipei is a city where people still buy fresh produce almost every morning of the year where weddings are celebrated with streetside bando banquets and where baristas craft cups of world class coffee wherever there are chopsticks there is curiosity and adventurousness regarding food like every great city taipei is the sum of its people hard working and talented for sure but also eager to enjoy every bite they take drawing on in depth interviews with the leading lights of taiwan s food scene meticulously sifted english and chinese language materials published in the 19th 20th and 21st centuries and rich personal experience the authors have assembled a unique book about a place that has added all kinds of outside influences to its own robust if little understood foundations

this book expands anthropological studies of business enterprise to include comparative and interdisciplinary perspectives a number of books on business anthropology have been published but most of them are written by anthropologists alone by contrast this book engages interdisciplinary studies e g not only by anthropologists but also management scholars and other social scientists it is the second volume of studies forwarding anthropological approaches to business administration keiei jinruigaku this volume focusses on the cultural dimensions of enterprise here enterprise is viewed as a medium carrying culture rather than solely an entity of production and management as is typical in mainstream studies the approach is based on tadao umesao s definition of culture as a projection of instruments devices and institutions into the mental spiritual dimensions of life therefore in our view production and management are among the projections of the cultural aspects of enterprise this perspective we believe constitutes a new frontier in the study of business administration this book consists of three parts the first being religiosity and spirituality the second exhibitions performance and inducement and the third history and story in part i quaker codes ex votos and spiritual leadership are discussed in relation to management and behavior and miracles and pilgrimage part ii describes exhibitions justifying nuclear power industry within power plants in both japan and england the exhibition by english families of their porcelain collections and the performance skills of orchestral maestros all of these examples indicate that through the use of narratives and myths exhibits and performances overtly and covertly induce visitors or audiences to certain viewpoints and emotions part iii offers examples of histories and stories of enterprise articulated through the branding and consumption of industrial products and their display in enterprise museums where the essence of culture and heritage is cherished and emphasized by and for the wider community and the enterprise itself conjoined as an interdisciplinary team of western and japanese researchers we apply an anthropological approach to the cultural history of enterprise in both britain and japan
