this book outlines and discusses the very wide range of cinema which is to be found in singapore although singapore cinema is a relatively small industry and relatively new it has nevertheless made an impact and continues to develop in interesting ways the book shows that although singapore cinema is often seen as part of diasporic chinese cinema it is in fact much more than this with strong connections to malay cinema and the cinemas of other southeast asian nations moreover the themes and subjects covered by singapore cinema are very wide ranging from conformity to the regime and singapore s national outlook with undesirable subjects overlooked or erased to the sympathetic depiction of minorities and an outlook which is at odds with the official outlook the book will be useful to readers coming new to the subject and wanting a concise overview while at the same time the book puts forward many new research findings and much new thinking this book is devoted to tracing the variety of ways that theatre theatricality and performance are embedded in hollywood cinema as screened stages a screened stage is the literal or metaphorical appearance of a stage on screen when the hollywood style emerged in cinema history it traumatically severed the entwined relationship between film and theatre the book makes the argument that cinema longs for theatre after that separation the histories of stage and screen persistently crisscross one another making their separation problematic the screened stage from the end of the nineteenth century until now offers a miniaturized version of cinema and theatre history moments of the stage within the screen compress historical styles and movements into saturated representations on film such examples overflow the cinematic screen into singular manifestations of presentness screened stages uncover what it means to be simultaneously present and absent this book would be of great interest to students and scholars of theatre film dance and performance
