a provocatively argued call for shifting the emphasis of critical theory from habermasian critique restricted to normative clarification to disclosure a possibility enhancing approach that draws on and reinterprets ideas of heidegger in critique and disclosure nikolas kompridis argues provocatively for a richer and more time responsive critical theory he calls for a shift in the normative and critical emphasis of critical theory from the narrow concern with rules and procedures of jürgen habermas's model to a change enabling disclosure of possibility and the enlargement of meaning kompridis contrasts two visions of critical theory's role and purpose in the world one that restricts itself to the normative clarification of the procedures by which moral and political questions should be settled and an alternative rendering that conceives of itself as a possibility disclosing practice at the center of this resituation of critical theory is a normatively reformulated interpretation of martin heidegger's idea of disclosure or world disclosure in this regard kompridis reconnects critical theory to its normative and conceptual sources in the german philosophical tradition and sets it within a romantic tradition of philosophical critique drawing not only on his sustained critical engagement with the thought of habermas and heidegger but also on the work of other philosophers including wittgenstein cavell gadamer and benjamin kompridis argues that critical theory must in light of modernity's time consciousness understand itself as fully situated in its time in an ever shifting and open ended horizon of possibilities to which it must respond by disclosing alternative ways of thinking and acting his innovative and original argument will serve to move the debate over the future of critical studies forward beyond simple antinomies to a consideration of as he puts it what critical theory should be if it is to have a future worthy of its past the epoch of representation is as old as the west indeed representation is the west understood as what at once designates and expands its own limits but what comes after the west what comes after representation's disclosure of its own limit the central problem posed in these essays collected from over a decade of work is how in the wake of western ontologies to conceive the coming the birth that characterizes being we are now at the limit of representation where objects as we experience them have been shown to be merely objects of representation or rather of presentation since there is nothing to represent the first part of this book existence asks how today one can give sense of meaning to existence as such arguing that existence itself as it comes nude into the world must now be our sense in examining what this birth to presence might be we should not ask what presence is rather we should conceive presence as presence to someone including to presence itself this birth is not the constitution of an identity but the endless departure of an identity from and from within its other or others its coming is not desire but jouissance the joy of averring oneself to be continually in the state of being born a rejoicing of birth a birth of rejoicing the second section poetry asks what art exposes this in writing in the voice in painting and what if art is exposed to it how does it inscribe or rather exscribe in a term the book develops the coming existence as such the author's trajectory in this book crosses those of hegel schlegel baudelaire nietzsche freud and heidegger in their comments on art and politics existence and corporeality everyday life and its modes of existence and ecstasy an analysis that dares this crossing involves all the varied accounts of existence political as well as philosophical and all the realms of poverty
