australian aboriginal people have lived in harmony with the earth for perhaps as long as 100 000 years in their words since the first day in this absorbing work lawlor explores the essence of their culture as a source of and guide to transforming our own world view while not romanticizing the past or suggesting a return to the life of the hunter gatherer voices of the first day enables us to enter into the mentality of the oldest continuous culture on earth and gain insight into our own relationship with the earth and to each other this book offers an opportunity to suspend our values prejudices and eurocentrism and step into the dreaming to discover a people who rejected agriculture architecture writing clothing and the subjugation of animals a lifestyle of hunting and gathering that provided abundant food of unsurpassed nutritional value initiatic and ritual practices that hold the origins of all esoteric yogic magical and shamanistic traditions a sexual and emotional life that afforded diversity and fluidity as well as marital and social stability a people who valued kinship community and the law of the dreamtime as their greatest possessions language whose richness of structure and vocabulary reveals new worlds of perception and comprehension a people balanced between the dreaming and the perceivable world in harmony with all species and living each day as the first day voices of the first day is illustrated throughout with more than 100 extraordinary photographs bark paintings line drawings and engravings many of these photographs are among the earliest ever made of the aboriginal people and are shown here for the first time a profound exploration of the sacred feminine across major world religions and traditions offering spiritual insights and transformative wisdom to reconnect with the divine mother within adapted from a series of lectures on the historical basis and current resurgence of the sacred feminine given by andrew harvey at the california institute of integral studies in spring 1994 the return of the mother is a profound journey into the heart of the divine mother in this comprehensive and groundbreaking work mystical scholar andrew harvey unearths traces of the sacred feminine in major world religions hinduism islam sufism buddhism taoism and christianity and in aboriginal and indigenous wisdom traditions harvey presents a scathing critique of the patriarchal distortions in religious history and doctrine that have obscured full knowledge of the divine mother and shows how to reintegrate this vital aspect into the spiritual consciousness of humankind the return of the mother offers a radical new perspective balancing the historical overemphasis on transcendence by honoring the immanence of the divine in passionate engagement in the world only by cultivating a direct respectful relationship with the transformative power of the sacred feminine can we alter our disastrous attitude of dissociation from nature the body sexuality and the details of human life and generate the energy and compassion needed to reverse the course of destruction we have set the planet and all of life hurtling toward in lively question and answer sections harvey further illuminates these vital issues and takes a strong stand against our dependence on gurus and masters proposing instead an egalitarian model of spiritual community based on intimate groups of mutually supportive guides and friends the return of the mother is an eloquent and passionate call for all of us to rediscover and reclaim an authentic and empowering relationship to the divine and recreate a sacred life in the world science fiction loves strangeness it relishes oddities even when it piles on fear and dystopian loathing the technical term for a fascination with the strange and alien is xenophilia just as the term for a terror of the strange is xenophobia at its core then science fiction is xeno fiction so science fiction seeks out the strange roams far from home in space and time looks with avid eagerness upon the ways of the others human or alien it participates in brilliantly lighted imagination in their strange lives in this second gathering from van ikin s critical journal science fiction a review of speculative literature writers of the alien are investigated with wit and insight g travis regier follows the other into its own home accompanying those experts in the alien c j cherry and samuel r delany in the book s long key essay terry dowling pursues the art of xenography as exemplified by jack vance s general culture novels three expert commentators look into booker prize winner peter carey s postcolonial and postmodern frolics into alternative realities and the xeno fictions of isaac asimov greg egan mary gentle ursula k le guin naomi mitchison neal stephenson and stanley weinbaum are read as their road maps into the strange eleven revealing essays on speculative fiction by some of the best critics in the field in their startling new book steven and evan strong challenge the out of africa theory based on fresh examination of both the dna and archeological evidence they conclude that modern humans originated from australia not africa the original australians referred to by some as aborigines like so many indigenous peoples are portrayed as backward and primitive yet as the strongs demonstrate original australians had a rich culture which may have sown the first seeds of spirituality in the world they had the technology to make international seafaring voyages and have left traces in the americas and possibly japan southern india egypt and elsewhere they practiced brain surgery invented the first hand tools and had knowledge of penicillin this book brings together 30 years of intensive research in consultation with elders in the original australian community among their conclusions are the following there is evidence that humans existed in australia 40 000 years before they existed in australia there were migrations of original australians in large boats throughout the indian pacific rim three distinct kinds of homo sapiens are found in australia there is evidence from the americas that debunks the out of africa theory the spiritual influence of the aborigines is reflected in the religions of the world in the apocalypse of the mind the author identifies practical elements that support the shift from enduring states of consciousness to stillness of mind grounded in jungian theory and eastern thought the book draws on the author's personal experience and other scenarios as well as themes from popular culture to illustrate the process the ego encounters as it undergoes consciousness transformation the book offers readers reflective exercises to incorporate an understanding of their unconscious material and deep rooted solutions to address genuine transformation
